

WHY IT IS GROWING

Mounjaro and Zepbound continue expanding as obesity and diabetes adoption (gray explanation) grows globally while manufacturing capacity expands and next-generation medicines add another runway including blue emphasis and pale detail after the current franchise matures.

CAN THE GROWTH CONTINUE?

The growth runway remains unusually long because the market is large and still underpenetrated (only a small share of customers currently use the product), but growth should normalize as revenue base becomes enormous. Sustained growth depends on manufacturing capacity, broader reimbursement (whether insurers or government programs will pay for treatment), successful launches retain strong efficacy and safety versus competitors.
